THE AMERICAN LEGACY OF LEARNING

Readings in the History of Education

Edited by JOHN HARDIN BEST, Rutgers University, and ROBERT T. SIDWELL, State University of New York at Oswego

Careful organization of material, detailed introductions to each major section, and commentaries for each selection together provide this book with a cohesiveness that normally is found only in original works.

Some emphasis is placed on the development of ideas in education, though many selections also deal with the social and institutional aspects of American schools. The editors have been especially sensitive to historical interpretation both in their introductory essays and in their selection of readings, with the result that a high level of sophistication is maintained throughout. Arrangement is chronological, from Colonial Times to the present.

PHILOSOPHIC PROBLEMS AND EDUCATION

Edited by YOUNG PAI, University of Missouri, and JOSEPH MYERS, Fairfield University

The educational implications of classic philosophic problems—reality, knowledge, values—are here examined by a number of the best-known philosophers and educators. Forty-three articles probe questions ranging from the nature and function of philosophy, the nature of truth and knowledge, to the relation of ethics and education.

Writers represented include Bertrand Russell, John Dewey, Martin Heidegger, Israel Scheffler, G. E. Moore, Josiah Royce, William James, and others.

75 YEARS OF CONCERNS FOR CHILDREN

History of the Association for Childhood Education International

A comprehensive history of ACEI from 1892 to 1967, by the late WINIFRED E. BAIN, long-time friend and contributor to the Association, was presented upon the occasion of the 75th anniversary of the organization at the 1967 ACEI Study Conference by LAURA HOOPER, who wrote the introduction. In addition to Bain's account of the 1942-1967 period, a span that included provisions for children in wartime, reconstruction, expanding services and increased cooperation with other organizations, there is a chronicle of "milestones" and lists of presidents, conferences, executive secretaries, Editorial Board chairmen and editors. The last section of the book, Half a Century of Progress, by IRA L. SMITH, is history of the 1892-1942 period, out of print for a long time and now reprinted and included. Abundantly illustrated with photos.
